

THEATRE IN SCHOOLS (TIS) - HEALTH WEALTH

Our new schools production Health Wealth will explore childhood obesity and mental health, bringing theatre into the classroom and inspiring debate about well being.

Old Vic New Voices have a successful track record of making plays for schools and work very hard to each of our productions has the same production values as any main stage production.

Every production starts life with a detailed research and development process of workshops and interviews both with school children and teachers. This verbatim material is then used as dialogue and setting ensuring the production feels contemporary and appropriate for school aged children.
